Existence of spaces, mechanisms and tools with recognition and legal status for interagency coordination between the public and civil society organizations based on the promotion and protection of the right to a life free of violence for women

The National Council Domestic Violence (NCDV) was installed in June 2017 by the Minister of Justice and Police for a period of 3 years. The main task of this council is to update the National Policy Plan Structural Approach Domestic Violence and to formulate a Work plan for the integral approach of domestic violence; the monitoring of the implementation of all the activities mentioned in these documents.

The NCDV consists of representatives of the Ministry of Justice and Police (The Public Prosecutor's Office, the Bureau Victim Aid, the Bureau Women and Child policy and the Police Corps of Suriname), the Ministry of Home Affairs, the Ministry of Regional Development, the Ministry of Social Affairs and Housing, the Ministry of Education Science and Culture, the Ministry of Public Health, the Foundation Stop Violence against Women and the Foundation "de Stem".

The National Policy Plan Structural approach Domestic Violence and the Workplan Domestic Violence have been presented to the Minister of Justice and Police in July 2018.

On 01 February 2019 the Gender Platform Nickerie has been installed with the aim to identify gender issues in district Nickerie and to propose solutions. The platform consists of government organizations, and non governmental organizations and individuals.

The Ministry of Justice and Police started with the development of a standard registration form domestic violence in 2014. This project was in collaboration with the United Nation Population Funds (UNFPA) and the Ministry of Home Affairs. After several discussions and the use of the form in a pilot project, the draft form is adapted and sent to the Minister of Justice and Police for approval. The Minister of Justice and Police approved the standard registration form in December 2018.

STATE CAPACITIES
INDICATOR	Action protocols for justice operators, health (service provider), teachers, and public officials in connection with different forms of violence To eradicate child labour and with the view to harmonize the Surinamese labour law concerning child labour to the present context as well as to the ILO standards (ILO- convention 138 and 182), the Law containing rules to combat child labor and work performed by young persons (Law Workers and Children Youth Act) has been adopted in 2018 and replaces the previous labor legislation concerning children and young persons dating from 1963. In the past, women employed in the private sector by companies without a collective labour agreement had no legal coverage for maternity leave services provided by their employers. With the adoption of the law on protection of the family in employment (2019), employed women will be entitled to paid maternity leave for 16 weeks and men to 7 days paternity leave. Women who give birth to multiple births, i.e. three or more children, are entitled to maternity leave up to a maximum of 24 weeks.	Existence of implementation and care protocols to deal with violations of the right of women and girls to be educated, at (public and private) educational institutions, free of stereotyped patterns of behavior and social and cultural practices based on inferiority and subordination concepts Since 2016, a pregnancy protocol has been established by the MINOWC (Ministry of Education, Science, and Culture) through a ministerial decision so as to ensure regulation at secondary schools and prevent school principals from taking their own decisions on removal of pregnant adolescents and mothers from school. The protocol is followed and schools are called upon that pregnant students also have right to education at all education levels. In case of pregnancy, the student is offered the opportunity to receive education as long as possible and / or to come back after giving birth. This also depends on the student's condition and the doctor's advice. With regard to pregnant adolescents who drop out of the formal school system, they are offered an opportunity to continue their education through training-courses offered by the Ministry of Labour and NGOs.	Number of cases heard and decided by public or private educational institutions concerning violation of the right of women and girls to be education free of stereotyped patterns of behavior and social and cultural practices based on concepts of inferiority or subordination.

		Existence of administrative agencies for filing complaints of noncompliance with obligations related to the right to an education free from discrimination In december 2016, the Ministry of Justice and Police launched the National Human Rights Institute. The planning is that a transition period will be implemented in 4 years, wherein the institute will be arranged in such a way that it will comply with the requirements according to the Paris Principles. This means that in this period the Institute will be made into an independent institution. In the final phase of this transition, the Institute will thus completely stand alone. This institute will deal with the promotion and protection of human rights in the country. Also, a general ombudsman will be linked to this institute. The ombudsman will be divided into two divisions, being one for children and one for adults.	Number of curricular review and revision to eliminate gender stereotypes by subject and academic level The Government has introduced programs through formal education as important tools to bring about change in gender stereotyping and consistent perceptions of women as being inferior to male counterparts, as property of men, as solely domestically oriented and not qualified for policy and decision-making. The issue of discrimination on the basis of gender identity and sexual orientation is not yet included. The Ministry of Education has promoted a number of policies and actions aimed at eliminating factors which tend to perpetuate gender inequalities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Textbooks and illustrations of several disciplines (history, nature education, and geography) have been revised in order to give a more gender balanced perspective, however on a small scale; • As part of the Basic Education Improvement Project (BEIP, part I), from 2004-2011 all principals and deputy heads of primary and secondary schools and kindergarten teachers were trained in gender equality; • The Ministry has instructed BEIP management to include gender equality in the implementation of BEIP II, 2012-2016; • As part of its program implementation, the Bureau for Educational Information and Study Facilities (B.O.S.) has held several dialogues related to study choices for women and gender equality; Teachers have been trained by the Ministry of Education, Science and Culture on gender and human rights, to enable them to play an effective role in the Basic Life Skills Program.

BASIC FINANCIAL CONTEXT AND BUDGETARY COMMITMENTS
INDICATOR	National budget law identifying funds allocated for women's mechanisms, specialized offices, health sector, education sector, etc. There is only limited data available on this indicator. Each year each ministry submits the yearly budget to the National Parliament for approval in which policy measures with funds for several programs and plans are included. In general it can be stated that not all ministries have a specific policy measure regarding gender within their total budget. The gender activities that are carried out within these ministries are part of programs and plans derived from a specific policy measure. As the Ministry of Home Affairs has a leading role in the formulation, evaluation and implementation of the gender

	policy it has a separate policy measure gender within her total budget in which funds for programs, plans regarding gender equality are allocated every year. The same is also within the Ministry of Justice and Police. There is a policy measure youth, moral and gender policy in which funds for programs, plans on violence are allocated every year.

Scope and characteristics considering girls and adolescents, adult women and elderly women who are ethnically diverse, Afro-descendants, rural, with disabilities, with different sexual preferences, by their sexual identity, migrants, refugees, displaced persons or deprived of their freedom On July 5th 2019, the BGA has launched the Gender Vision Policy Document 2021 – 2035. This policy document elaborates on Suriname’s international and regional obligations to achieve gender equality and empowerment of women and girls; the Constitution of Suriname; the evaluation of earlier integral gender policy plans of the Ministry of Home Affairs; and the Development Plan of Suriname for the period 2017 – 2021. The priority areas for the period 2021 – 2035 are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Labor, income and poverty reduction • Education • Health • Power and decision-making • Gender-based violence • Legal and regulatory framework • Environment and climate change To implement the targets within the policy document yearly annual plans are/ will be	Existence of capacity-building in gender stereotypes and violence prevention for educators at all levels of education The Ministry of Home Affairs offers training on gender, women's rights, violence and other gender-related issues to various ministries, religious organizations and NGOs. These trainings are also conducted in the different districts. Since 2016 gender is included in the curricula of the annual courses of the Civil Servants education of the Ministry of the Home Affairs. Different topics such as gender stereotyping, gender discrimination, gender equality, violence against women are addressed in these courses. In 2017, the BGA provided a gender training for media workers in the district of Nickerie. The paragraphs dealing with the gender stereotyping and the role of the media in the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action and CEDAW were included in the training. The BGA also supported a theater group that wanted to expose gender, domestic violence and women's emancipation through their own production in 2017.

	developed. For the period 2019- 2020 a gender action plan have been developed wherein concrete activities have been incorporated with regard to the thematic areas. The activities will be executed in collaboration with the relevant ministries. The formulation of a long-term gender policy was preferred; with a view of a period of approximately 15 years (2021 – 2035), as processes of social change associated with gender equality and equity require time. In this manner, the goals of the 2030 World Agenda (SDGs) and the national goals may be better attuned to one another and the intended vision on development and change will be more clearly expressed. Within the gender vision policy document 2021- 2035 gender-based violence is identified as one of the priority areas. There is good cooperation between the Bureau of Gender Affairs (BGA) and the National Council for Domestic Violence (NCDV). The NCDV has also outlined a policy document and drawn up a work plan. The Gender Vision Policy Document 2021 – 2035 also supports the vision and policy of the National Council, since the proposed interventions to tackle and reduce domestic violence also contribute to achieving the long-term goals of the gender policy document. In the coming years, the activities of the domestic violence work plan and the annual gender action plans will be constantly coordinated. The ministry of Social Affairs and Housing has formulated a national action plan for children, 2019-2021. Seven priority areas have been identified, each are focused on the realization of multiple strategic goals. One of the priority areas is prevention and reducing violence against children. The general objective of this action plan is: Facilitating coordinated and integrated

In April 2015, research was conducted into the visibility of women in the media in that context. This shows that despite the fact that women worldwide make up around 50% of the world's population, they are only heard or can be seen in newspapers, on television and the radio news for 24%. In 2015, the visibility of women in digital modern media was examined for the first time. The invisibility of women in the traditional news has its bearing on the digital modern media, in which women are only 26% relatively visible in the news. To help the media in Suriname narrow the gap in the visibility of men and women in the media to achieve better results with GMMP 2020, a Gender Media Code has been developed. This code also contains guidelines for a balanced presentation of men and women in realization to: credibility and impartiality, language, reporting on sexual violence, advertisements and ethnicity. In the period from 2 July to 15 August 2018, the GMMP team approached media houses in Suriname to include the code

The Ministry of Justice and Police had identified the inequalities that they experienced and had developed a policy to promote their human rights. After the country's last universal periodic review, in 2016 the Minister of Justice and Police had established a working group tasked with interviewing individuals to gather information about discrimination directed at LGBTI persons. The interviews had included representatives of religious organizations, sports organizations, youth groups, government agencies, men's and women's interest groups and private sector organizations. The process was intended to provide an insight into the perspectives of LGBTI persons, determine the level of public awareness of the issues that they faced, and ascertain the gravity of the human rights violations they suffered, the attitudes of civil society towards them and the degree of resistance to their acceptance in society. The results of the interviews had been presented to the National Assembly and follow-up actions stemming from them would be initiated by the Ministry of Justice and Police.

		An important step taken by the Government of Suriname is the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) in March 2017. In this regard, a CRPD training was organized in October 2017 in cooperation with the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights. Government officials and stakeholders were trained in subjects such as the Key principles and core obligations regarding the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, the work of the CRPD Committee, Reporting cycle and guidelines on how to prepare the CRPD State party report. Subsequently awareness raising campaigns were launched in December 2017 at the Training Centre for adolescents with disabilities and a school for persons with a visual disability. Furthermore, the Ministry of Social Affairs and Housing is planning to conduct a research in 2019 with regards to residential and living conditions of people with disabilities. The Child Rights Bureau of the Ministry of Social Affairs and Housing had started in 2017 in collaboration with UNICEF the formulation of the National Actionplan Children 2019 – 2021. This actionplan contains specific activities that must guarantee the protection of children against all forms of violence. In the implementation, no distinction is made between race, gender, religion and sexual orientation.
	Law addressing / including the right of gender identity, sexual identity and sexual diversity The Surinamese Constitution does not explicitly protect against discrimination based on sexual orientation. Violation of this law can result in a prison sentence of up to one year or a fine. (i.e. the Revision of the Penal Code, approved in 2015, contains a definition on discrimination (article 126a). This definition is applicable to both men and women and is line with CEDAW. In addition, article 500a of the Revised Penal Code, which deals with occupational discrimination, sexual orientation is explicitly mentioned as a ground for discrimination). The Penal Code is also applicable when it comes to the following; “Sexual Orientation” is also mentioned as ground for insult for a group of persons (article 175 of the Penal Code as revised in March 2015) and ground for discrimination of a group of persons (article 175a, 176, 176b of the Penal Code as revised in March 2015), and ground for discrimination of one or more persons (176c of the Penal Code as revised in March 2015).		Table 17 Relationship between the victim and perpetrator in the other regions. Table 18.
